

Hello everyone

It's been a great week for the Hannah More community. I was pleased to be invited to a Cultural Competence training event on Wednesday, which was led by a group of Hannah More parents. They will be leading a staff meeting next term as well as visiting other schools. This is a fantastic initiative. I was also proud of the mums' performance at ACTA theatre this week - check twitter if you would like to see the mums in action! ACTA are also starting a new drama club after-school for Year 4 and 5 next week - watch this space.

This week we have had SATs tests for Year 2. All the children have worked really hard and were really focussed in all their tests - well done to them. The results of these tests will help the teachers in making their assessments about children's attainment over the year. Next week Year 6 will be busy with their tests, so make sure your children are well rested over the weekend.

Next week there is a further opportunity to talk to Cathedral Schools Trust staff and ask questions about the proposed academisation. Trust staff will be here on Thursday 17th May from 3.30 , so do drop in if you have questions. Please make after-school arrangements for your children if you want to come along.

Ramadan begins this month and many of our community - and Muslims around the world - will be taking part in ritual fasting and abstinence for 30 days. We wish you all the blessings of the holy month.

Best wishes,

Sue Ramsay,

Head teacher.
